

National Association Of Special Education Teachers Seeks Nominations For Special Education Teachers Awards

For Immediate Release

WASHINGTON/EWORLDWIRE/June 8, 2005 --- For the 2004-2005 academic year, The National Association of Special Education Teachers (NASSET) is awarding The NASSET Outstanding Special Education Teacher Award to special education teachers and inclusion classroom teachers who have exhibited dedication, loyalty, commitment and enthusiasm to working with children with special needs.

The NASSET Outstanding Special Education Teacher Award is bestowed upon teachers by their respective school or district administrators. School administrators may offer NASSET up to three names of teachers whom they feel should receive The NASSET Outstanding Special Education Teacher Award.

Special education teachers or inclusion classroom teachers that schools or district administrators feel worthy of receiving The NASSET Outstanding Special Education Teacher Award will be awarded the certificate.

Teachers' names may be submitted via a nomination form printed from www.naset.org in the Awards section on the home page. Under Outstanding Special Education Teacher Award are the nomination form to be downloaded and submission guidelines.
