

Sitestar Subsidiary Wins Best Internet Provider

Lynchburg.Net Tops News And Advance List

For Immediate Release

LYNCHBURG, Va./EWORLDWIRE/March 20, 2006 --- Sitestar Corporation (OTCBB: SYTE), a provider of residential and business Internet access and value-added computer services, today announced that its Lynchburg.Net subsidiary won First Place in the Best Internet Provider category in the News & Advance Reader's Choice 2006 Best of the Lynchburg Area award. Sitestar's computer division, Computers by Design, also won First Place in the Best Computer Store category.

Each year, the News & Advance, Lynchburg, Virginia's daily newspaper, solicits its readers to vote for the best service providers in over 140 categories. Lynchburg.Net won over several other nationally-recognized ISP brands.

"We are honored to be recognized by the readers of the News & Advance as best Internet provider and computer store for the Lynchburg area," said Frank R. Erhartic, Jr., CEO for Sitestar. "Since our inception, we have been providing our customers with quality computer equipment and service, plus excellent Internet access. We understand that our customers have choices, so receiving this award affirms our commitment to delivering the best service available."

Computers by Design was founded in 1985 and created its Internet division in 1996. Since then, Lynchburg.Net has become one of the largest and most popular regional ISPs in the Greater Lynchburg and Central Virginia area. Lynchburg.Net offers dial-up, broadband Internet access and Web hosting services.
