National Association Of Special Education Teachers Selects LDOonline As The 2006 Recipient Of Its Excellence In Special Education Award

For Immediate Release

WASHINGTON/EWORLDWIRE/May 24, 2006 --- The National Association of Special Education Teachers (NASSET) announced LDOonline as the recipient of its highest organizational honor, the NASSET 2006 Excellence in Special Education Award. Given to only one organization each year, LDOonline was selected as the recipient of the NASSET 2006 Excellence in Special Education Award for its commitment, dedication, and service to exceptional children, their parents and special educators throughout the United States.

LDOonline is the world's leading Web site on learning disabilities and ADHD, serving more than 220,000 parents, teachers and other professionals each month. LDOonline seeks to help children and adults reach their full potential by providing accurate and up-to-date information and advice about learning disabilities and ADHD. The site features hundreds of helpful articles, monthly columns by noted experts, first person essays, children's writing and artwork, a comprehensive resource guide, a set of very active bulletin boards, and a Yellow Pages referral directory of professionals, schools and products.

Upon receiving news of the award from the executive directors of NASSET, Dr. Roger Pierangelo and Dr. George Giuliani, the Director of LDOonline Noel Gunther stated, "Thank you so much for this honor. We are very proud to accept this distinction from NASSET, especially since the organization is made up of individuals who make such a difference in the lives of children with special needs. We admire and value the work of special education teachers so much, and it is so encouraging to know that the feeling is mutual. Once again, thank you so much for this vote of confidence."

The National Association of Special Education Teachers congratulates LDOonline on a very well-deserved award.

The National Association of Special Education Teachers (NASSET) is a national membership organization dedicated to supporting and assisting teachers and future teachers of special education. It was founded to promote the profession of special education teachers and to provide a national forum for their ideas. NASSET seeks to meet a critical need for many of the United States' special education teachers. It develops and promotes professional excellence through the support of teachers who provide services to children with special needs.
