Double-digit Growth Experienced at News Source

For Immediate Release

FOLSAM, Calif./EWORLDWIRE/June 29, 2007 --- When NewsBlaze Founder and Editor-in-Chief Alan Gray analyzes the statistics related to the visitors to his news site, he consistently sees double-digit growth - even more marked this year than last.

"We've been growing between 10 and 30 percent per month, month over month for the past 12 months," stated Gray. "People are discovering the value of our site as an information source. NewsBlaze offers a different approach from most news sites - no popups or a site covered with banner ads."

Without requiring any type of registration, news the "big" news sites ignore from around the globe is available. Included among the content are stories and editorial cartoons accompanied by insightful articles and NewsBlaze blogs - ranging from politics to business, the environment, high-tech and every topic in between.

In May, NewsBlaze experienced close to double the number of visitors it had in November.

"The strength of our growth is a direct result of the individual contributions each of the people associated with NewsBlaze makes," said Gray. "Their experience, coupled with their drive and enthusiasm, make providing NewsBlaze worthwhile."

About Alan Gray

Alan Gray is editor-in-chief of NewsBlaze. Recognition of his work in the public arena was bestowed on him in 2006 in the form of Certificate of Commission to the Honorable Order of Kentucky Colonels (<http://www.kycolonels.org>); this award was the result of his ongoing support of service men and women by publishing stories of those serving in Iraq (<http://newsblaze.com/iraqgoodnews.html>). Gray contributes to the Good Works Program Fund which delivers programs to communities to support and aid needy low-income inhabitants or disabled persons. More information about the commissioning of Kentucky Colonels can be found on the Commonwealth of Kentucky Web site at '<http://sos.ky.gov/executive/kentuckycolonels.htm>'.
