

Business Application Launched On Facebook By Affiliate Summit

Affiliate Summit, the largest affiliate marketing conference in the world, has launched a revolutionary Facebook application.

For Immediate Release

BERKELEY HEIGHTS, N.J./EWORLDWIRE/Sep. 21, 2007 --- Affiliate marketers with questions about anything on the affiliate marketing industry now have a free resource to get knowledgeable answers - in the Ask Affiliate Summit application on Facebook. Directed by Affiliate Summit co-founders and affiliate marketing experts, Missy Ward and Shawn Collins, The Ask Affiliate Summit application is a Web-based program that interacts with core Facebook features and is available for free use to any registered Facebook members. Ask Affiliate Summit's focus on education and training in affiliate marketing is a departure from the typical application of Facebook - often silly gimmicks for friends to share, such as picking lists of favorite movies or playfully sending mixed drinks online.

"Our Ask Affiliate Summit presence becomes another point of service to countless affiliates and affiliate managers aiming to learn more about the business," said Collins.

The Ask Affiliate Summit application is located at '<http://apps.facebook.com/askaffiliatesummit/>'.

Next week Friday, Sept. 28, affiliate marketers will converge in London for Affiliate Summit London 2007 conference - the Affiliate Summit's inaugural London event. Already sold out for registration, a handful of sponsorships remain to be snapped up by businesses looking to reach affiliate marketers.
