

Credit-challenged Consumers Take Charge Of Personal Finances with Credit Education Services LLC

Credit Education, Credit Restoration And Debt Management Solutions

For Immediate Release

ATLANTA/EWORLDWIRE/March 20, 2008 --- Credit Education Services LLC (CES) is a new company that provides education and consulting solutions with emphasis on understanding and re-establishing credit, debt reduction, saving and investing. CES provides an array of personal credit management solutions including preventive and restorative.

The founders of Credit Education Services include K.E. Varner, personal credit professional and author of The Insider's Guide to Credit Repair - Career Press/New Page Books and M. Williams, personal credit professional and entrepreneur. Combined, they have over 15 years of consumer credit experience, a significant portion working directly in the credit-reporting industry. The company's expertise is focused on helping average consumers (who may have had past credit problems) take control of their personal finances by offering credit education, credit restoration help and debt management solutions.

"The fact that our company offers experience and perspectives from various sides of personal credit management - education-preventive, restoration, budgeting and basic investing, significantly enhances the services and solutions we provide our clients and sets us apart from cookie-cutter look-a-likes hiding behind the 'credit repair' facades," says Varner and Williams. "Our goal is to create educated, empowered consumers that manage personal credit and finances responsibly."
