Fart Neutral(TM) announces its campaign to Neutralize Barack Obama's greenhouse gases.

For Immediate Release

WOODBIDGE, Va./EWORLDWIRE/July 22, 2008 --- Fart Neutral announces a campaign to neutralize Barack Obama's greenhouse gases, detailed in an interview with wife, Michelle. Barack is believed to emit flatulence, to the point his children will not even climb into bed with him in the morning ('<http://www.glamour.com/news/articles/2007/09/michelleobama?currentPage=2>').

To offset his emissions, Fart Neutral will donate $1 to the Barack Obama Presidential Campaign for every, "Flatulence is natural but it can be neutral," t-shirt sold between now and Inauguration day.

Said FartNeutral's Chris Lacy, "Every product we sell offsets 1000 lbs. of greenhouse gases which covers the average person's farts for a year, along with the greenhouse gases created in the actual production and shipping of our products."
