Cartoonist Offers A Multitude Of Services - Dan Rosandich offers bloggers and Web designers a daily Web comic that updates automatically 24/7/365. Other cartooning services also provided.

For Immediate Release

CHASSELL, Mich./EWorldWire/July 31, 2008 --- Dan Rosandich offers bloggers and web designers a daily web comic that updates automatically via php script 24/7/365. All that's needed is a simple line of code Rosandich provides to interested site designers.

Aside from this offering, Rosandich has also archived over 3000 different cartoons into a categorized searchable database where professionals can search through thumbnail images based on the type of cartoons they need. The content is ideal for professionals like doctors or lawyers preparing and needing cartoons for PowerPoint, or for newsletters; magazine publishers find the cartoon catalog ideal for their purposes, as do book publishers.

Many of Rosandich's cartoons appear in the hugely popular line of "Chicken Soup For The Soul" series of books including "Pet Lover's Soul & Christian Soul."

Rosandich also offer specialty, custom cartoons which can be utilized in marketing promotions or used in print projects ranging from manuals and brochures to catalogs and standard books.

With over 30 years of experience as a full-time cartoonist, Rosandich decided to take advantage of the available technology and incorporate it with his cartooning by offering images electronically, cartoons for web designers and publishers in both print and web platforms. Cartooning is no longer a pen to paper or basic "syndicated" operation.

Rosandich's skills reach beyond cartooning and creating humorous customized illustrations to a prolific web designer and owns and operates almost 30 different Web sites dealing with topics such as marketing, the renaissance period, and banker information.
