

YouTube Playlists Get Burned to Audio CD With Free YouTube to MP3 Converter From DVDVideoSoft

A leading developer of multimedia software, DVDVideoSoft recently released more updates for users' favourite tool Free YouTube to MP3 Converter.

For Immediate Release

NEW YORK/EWORLDWIRE/Oct. 29, 2009 --- YouTube fans now have a chance to make their video collections portable, in MP3 format, courtesy new updates from DVDVideoSoft to its most popular tool, Free YouTube to MP3 Converter. Complete playlists, users' channels, users' favorites and video responses are all burnable to an audio CD, as easy as one - two - three.

DVDVideoSoft, a well-known developer of free multimedia software, constantly works on improvements to users' favorite program so that the already widely popular program can attract even more users from around the world.

Users who want to download MP3 and write an audio CD from a YouTube Playlist simply choose the option, and the audio will be extracted from the YouTube video and burned to an audio CD. The simplicity of the process makes Free YouTube to MP3 Converter unique, useful and convenient for multimedia software users.

Updates to DVDVideoSoft's software features recently included adding multiple download from YouTube to MP3 format - not only a single video but also video collections like complete playlists, user's channels, user's favorites and video responses can be handled. For example, users are able to download a whole playlist from YouTube and then burn it to an audio CD without using any other supplementary tools.

DVDVideoSoft downloads directly from DVDVideoSoft.com ('<http://www.dvdvideosoft.com>'), where everyone can find a free program to their liking whether it is downloading or converting, ripping or editing software for audio and video.
