

PottyMD Introduces The WobL As The World's Smallest Multi-Functional Vibrating Watch For Children

Medical Watch for Children Will Have Significant Global Appeal

For Immediate Release

KNOXVILLE, Tenn./EWORLDWIRE/Dec. 9, 2008 --- PottyMD, a world leader in education and manufacturing of solutions for toilet training and bedwetting, now is introducing the WobL watch as its latest juvenile product for children and young adults who need discrete reminders for specific responsibilities. Because vibrating watches have shown to be invaluable for those with hearing and visual impairments, bedwetting, toileting problems, and special medical needs, PottyMD considers vibrating watches to be integral to its toileting, bedwetting and medical device portfolio.

Vibrating watches have been available for several years to those who need discrete reminders to perform specific duties or medical functions. Until now, children, young adults, and those with small wrists have been unable to obtain a small multi-functional alarm and vibrating watch that is not too heavy and difficult to wear. After nearly two years of development, PottyMD is now introducing the compact WobL watch. "To the best of our knowledge, the WobL watch is the smallest multi-alarm and vibrating watch in the world. PottyMD is excited to bring this very practical, smart and affordable watch to the market," said D. Preston Smith MD, pediatric urologist and founder of PottyMD.

The WobL has six separate individual alarms and a special countdown feature to remind individuals at specific intervals throughout the day. The WobL watches look and function like a normal digital watches, and they come in four multi-color styles.

Vibrating watches are a natural addition to the PottyMD product line since they are commonly used to remind children to use the restroom at frequent timed intervals every day for the correction of bedwetting, urinary accidents, and other urinary and bowel problems.

Alarm and vibrating watches have also shown to be useful in those who need to take medications or perform routine medical functions.

The WobL is now available to distributors worldwide. For customer and distribution inquiries, contact PottyMD at 877-768-8963, or through '<http://www.pottymd.com>' and '<http://www.woblwatch.com>'.
