

2014 Massachusetts Woman-Owned Small Business of the Year Award Honors Methuen-based Dnutch Associates Inc.

For Immediate Release

BOSTON/EWORLDWIRE/April 9, 2014 --- Dnutch Associates Inc. (Dnutch) of Methuen has been named the winner of the 2014 Massachusetts Woman-Owned Small Business of the Year award, according to an announcement by Robert Nelson, Massachusetts SBA district director.

The Woman-Owned Small Business of the Year award is presented annually to an outstanding woman-owned business with a successful three-year track record. The selection for this award was based on staying power, growth in number of employees, increase in sales and/or unit volume, innovation of product or service, and response to adversity and community contributions.

Dnutch was founded in 1993 by a unique association of seasoned software and network engineering professionals. Today its people have in-depth industry experience across a vast array of technologies and markets and provide key expertise in the design, verification, development, and testing of large-scale information technology (IT) systems for DoD, federal and state government, and commercial clients. The company's goal is to provide best-in-class IT solutions and deliver significant value to its clients.

"Dnutch is proud to receive this award. We have worked very hard to grow our federal government business," said Denise Jones, Dnutch's president and CEO. "As a small business, we go the extra mile for our clients. We embrace every component of our clients' project objectives. Then, we drive a logical set of methodologies to guarantee the integration and operation of disparate systems by considering technology infusion, software development, network engineering, information assurance, IT infrastructure sustainability, and operational improvement."

According to SBA District Director Robert Nelson: "After starting Dnutch Associates Inc., Denise Jones showed an impressive willingness to innovate and to grow, and took full advantage of the government contracting and other help that was offered to her and to her business, including the SBA's e200 training program. Dnutch Associates is a strong example of a resourceful woman-owned business that has staying power, and we are delighted to recognize their success."
