

EzineListing.com Announces Launch Of Their Proprietary Ezine Listing & Directory Software (beta Version)

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Reno, NV/EWORLDWIRE/November 28, 2002 --- EzineListing.com, today announced it has officially launched the BETA version (v.3) of its proprietary Ezine Listing and Directory software. The innovative program is designed to showcase high quality Ezines & Online Newsletters, while offering visitors access to a centralized database of this increasing collection of online publications.

Since its inception, EzineListing.com has remained focused on one clear goal, to provide a superior user experience to both visiting subscribers and Ezine publishers alike. The continued growth of the email marketing industry now demands a search engine focused exclusively on the online publishing market.Â

While in BETA mode, ezine publishers may list their publication FREE. All listings must have an example with no hyperlinks that provides visiting subscribers with an accurate reflection of a true sample prior to signing up. This shifts the focus to creating better quality ezines, aimed at providing an experience comparable to a full-color magazine.

"This is an exciting new project, that will be an online landmark in no time," remarked Patrick Wagner, President of EzineListing.com. "The value that EzineListing.com provides both the subscriber and the publisher is unparalleled. We will continue to enhance this new web service that provides this type of value to our entire visitor base."
